It was a dark and stormy night...

It's Saturday night, just 2 hours before the your dinner party starts. You breathe a sigh of relief thinking that you have plenty of time for a glass of wine and a hot bath before the guests arrive. One more quick wipe down of the kitchen counter and sink and you're done. Boy it feels good. Out of the corner of your eye you notice somethings not quite right with the sink. OH NO, the drain is clogged!....

What happens next in your house?

Are you calm, cool and collected because you took our Plumbing 101 class and know exactly what to do? Can you unclog that drain and still have time for a quick glass of wine and a shower before greeting your guests as if nothing happened?
